BEVERLY GOH

ABOUT BEVERLY

Since joining the firm in 2020, Beverly has developed a strong contentious family law practice focused on complex, high-stakes matrimonial disputes.

She acts in a broad range of family law matters, including contested divorces, interlocutory applications, PPO trials, and appeals heard before the High Court (Family Division) and Appellate Division. She also has experience in urgent and interlocutory applications, including injunctions to prevent the wrongful removal of children from Singapore (involving jurisdictions such as Australia, the United Kingdom, United States, India and China) as well as disputes concerning custody, care and control, and international relocation.

Beverly also advises on high-net-worth matrimonial disputes involving complex asset structures, including pre-marital wealth, inheritance, commingling issues, and emerging asset classes such as cryptocurrency and digital portfolios, often supported by forensic asset tracing.

In addition, she advises on pre-nuptial, post-nuptial and separation agreements arising out of marital breakdown, including arrangements in contemplation of or following separation, as well as judicial separation. She is experienced in negotiating family settlements across a range of financial profiles and sensitive family dynamics.

EXPERIENCE

Some of the notable matters which Beverly has handled include:

- Successfully represented various clients in international child abduction proceedings involving various 1980 Hague Convention jurisdictions (Australia, UK, US) as well as non-Hague Convention jurisdictions (India, China), and obtained emergency injunctions to prevent wrongful removal of children from Singapore
- Successfully acted for a Singaporean property developer in his contested divorce proceedings, which led to his wife's claim (filed on the basis of his alleged unreasonable behaviour) being dismissed with costs, after a 5-day trial involving multiple witnesses: XSP v XSQ [2025] SGFC 107
- Successfully acted for a husband to obtain a reversal of care and control orders in his favour, defended against the ex-wife's application for relocation of the young children to Amsterdam and obtained orders for the husband to relocate with the Children to the United Kingdom.
- Successfully acted for a wife against the husband's appeal before the Appellate Division on apportioning and including the husband's accrued income as a matrimonial asset even though it was not yet reflected in the statement as at the date of interim judgment. First instance judgment: VMO v VMP [2020] SGHCF 23
- Acting for UHNW clients in complex divorce proceedings on issues surrounding pre-marital wealth, inheritance, and complex commingling, and involving non-traditional marital estates such as cryptocurrency, digital portfolios and forensic asset tracing
- Successfully acted for a Mother in negotiations to obtain sole custody, care and control of her daughter.
- Successfully acted for a mother in obtaining sole care and control of her son, with liberty to relocate to the United Kingdom. The father could only exercise supervised access to his son in view of his violence and inability to manage his emotions.
- Represented clients in the negotiation and drafting of prenuptial agreements, acting for parties on both sides of the financial spectrum.
- Advised on post-nuptial and separation agreements following the breakdown of marriages, including cases where parties sought to formalise arrangements or pursue judicial separation.
